Subject: Transistorized Transmitter Development Program

Dear Sir:

[redacted] is pleased to present its technical proposal and quotation for development of the RT-21 transmitter in accordance with Specification No. 58-A-1077-A. The study and development work attending this program will be conducted at [redacted] any contract resulting from this quotation will be administered by the [redacted]

Enclosed herewith are three copies of our technical proposal titled, "Proposal for Development of the RT-21 Transmitter". You will note this Proposal outlines phases A and B, an eighteen month program to include feasibility study and fabrication of a laboratory sample transmitter demonstrating the electronic principles to be used in an ultimate transmitter. Specification No. 58-A-1077-A must be considered a design goal, to be attained at some time in the future since the current transistor unit offers no possibility of achieving the power capability specified therein.

Therefore, Exhibit "A", attached, our Analysis of Estimated Cost on a CPFF Basis, represents the cost construction applicable to an eighteen month program leading to a laboratory sample ^{prot.} equipment. Exhibit "A" shows an estimated cost of $130,408.62 and a Fixed Fee of $10,500.00 for a total selling price of $140,908.62.

It is suggested that this program be added as an additional task to contract No. RD-107. This may be accomplished by an appropriate modification to the present contract which contains articles and provisions entirely satisfactory to the [redacted]
